Woman claims racism was motive in son's shooting

By TED A. OSHODI

A Whitehall woman says the June 13 shooting that left her 16-year-old son Tuesday with wounds to the abdomen and liver in Mt. Carmel East Hospital, was racially motivated.

Mrs. Louella Thomas, 34, of 766 Robinhood Ave. Apt. A, said she and her three children are outraged and upset by the low bond set for Kathryn Webb, 25, the woman charged with felonious assault in the shooting.

Gary Thomas, an 11th grade student of Whitehall-Yearling School was shot about 10:57 p.m. June 13 during an argument with Webb outside the apartment complex, Whitehall police said.

Gary, who underwent surgery, was reported in stable condition Tuesday. A bullet from the gunshot pierced through Gary's liver, according to a hospital spokesperson.

Webb, of 760 Robinhood Ave. Apt. A, was arraigned June 16 in Franklin County Municipal Court, and later released on a $2,500 cash or surety bond.

Mrs. Thomas and her children said they fear the woman who has been let loose might "come back, and finish the job on them."

Mrs. Webb has been scheduled for a preliminary hearing June 30, according to court records.

Mrs. Thomas said the shooting of her son came after Webb had threatened to cut his throat and kill some members of the family. Mrs. Thomas said her son never had an argument with the woman.

She said Webb, had on many occasions used racial slurs and called them names. Kelley Billingsley, 16, a neighbor and friend of Gary, said: "When we were out playing on Thursday, June 12, Webb and her kids called us niggers, and threatened to kill

Woman found shot in alley

A 23-year-old woman was found June 14 laying in an Eastside alley after being run over by a car, and shot by her assailant, Columbus police said.

Gwendolyn Baynes, whose address is unknown, remained in critical condition Tuesday in the Intensive Care Unit at St. Anthony Medical Center.

Police said the woman was shot at 460 Hanley Ave. and then placed in the alley. While laying in the alley about 6:07 a.m., her assailant ran the car over her, and sped off, police said.

Baynes was later found unconscious by a passerby who called police to the scene.

Homicide detectives had not charged anyone June 17 in connection with the incident. Detectives said the incident was being investigated.

For information that could lead to the arrest and possible conviction of the suspect, call 222-4730.

Short North 'druggies' to be sentenced

Ashburn Center ouster slated

Rev. Andrew C. Lewter believes his ministry at Oakley Baptist Church is to be one of "teaching and preaching."

To accomplish that goal, the Oakley Academy, a private Christian school for two-year-olds to grade four, will open in August in the site that currently houses the J. Ashburn Youth Center at 64 S. Highland Ave.

The J. Ashburn Center will relocate to a site that has not yet been determined, Lewter said. Any decisions about the future of the center will be made by the director and the board of trustees, not him, Lewter emphasized. "The only say I have is what goes on in my building," he added.

The Center, a United Way funded agency, is an "independent entity" Lewter said and "has no accountability to the church."

"We don't get anything from the center," Lewter said, adding that Oakley Baptist pays all the center's utilities and charges it no rent. "We're losing money," Lewter said.

Celeste suspends aide 30 days for racial slur in Youngstown

By GILBERT PRICE (COLUMBUS BUREAU)

Gov. Richard F. Celeste announced last week that he had ordered the 30-day suspension of an administration official who made a racial slur at a Youngstown event on May 24.

Michael J. McCullion, a Youngstown man who heads the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, was the center of controversy after he referred to the "National Council of Nigger Women" at a banquet honoring V. Laura Lumsden, a Youngstown activist and member of the A.

MICHAEL J. McCULLION apologizes

Philip Randolph Institute, a trade labor group named after its founder, A. Philip Randolph.

In a prepared statement, Celeste said he was "very disappointed when I heard about the remark," which he called "highly inappropriate."

McCullion, after being ordered to do so by Gov. Celeste, sent Lumsden a letter of apology, saying, "with all the sincerity at my command, I tell you there was not a single person in the room more shocked than I was to hear the word my tongue spoke."

McCullion attributed his statement to someone in the another person as the "H.N.I.C." which was later explained to McCullion as "Head Nigger in Charge."

"The offensive word was somehow planted in my subconscious mind," McCullion explained.

The A. Philip Randolph Institute accepted McCullion's apology in a letter to Celeste, saying that "too much has been made of this issue, by the press and others, some that we (Continued On Page 8A)

Reid is being recognized for saving the life of a motorist. He also received a certificate of special recognition from Gov. Richard F. Celeste. Reid was traveling on U.S. Route 20, just east of Fayette, Ohio on May 6 when he noticed a truck had overturned. Despite gasoline leakage from the accident, Reid stopped at the scene and tried to pull the driver, Jeffrey LaRock, of Rockton, Pa., out of the cabin. Reid later summoned help, which arrived just in time to save LaRock's life.

HASTINGS TELLS BUSINESS CONFERENCE

'None of us has arrived yet'

By GILBERT PRICE
(Columbus Bureau)

Federal District Court Judge
Alcee Hastings of Florida

asked a crowd of 450 minority businesspersons at the Governor's Conference on Minority Business regional meeting in Cincinnati, "when have you arrived?"

And, he closed his speech with the statement, "None of us has arrived."

Between, he called on Blacks to become more concerned about providing quality goods and services to the public, and attacked the Reagan administration for opposing affirmative action programs.

"We have lost our consciousness and become keepers of the status quo," Hastings argued, asserting that, by the turn of the century, 60 percent of Black children will be functionally illiterate.

Hastings defended affirmative action programs as being necessary to bridge the gap between whites and Blacks in America.

"Yes, I'm in favor of goals, quotas, timetables -- and a colorblind society," Hastings said. "Come up with an alternative for affirmative action, and I'll give up quotas, goals and timetables."

Hastings said that the Reagan administration "has told every minority person that they don't care about you," calling it "the most insensitive administration in the history of the United States."

However, Hastings also argued that a pervasive spirit

"THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR EXCELLENCE," Federal District Court Judge Alcee Hastings told a crowd of approximately 450 entrepreneurs at the Governor's Conference on Minority Business Enterprise in Cincinnati. Hastings was the featured speaker at the conference, which drew business persons from across southwestern Ohio to discuss ways to help finance, market and bond their businesses. Conferences will also be held in Toledo in August and Columbus in September.

was infecting many Black businesses -- the spirit of "that'll do."

"When a letter is typed with a whole lot of spelling errors, we look it over and say, 'that'll do,'" Hastings said.

"There is no substitute for excellence. People are still looking for quality products, reliability, service, and most of all, the desire to be wanted. Anyone who provides even a portion of those services will do well in business."

Hastings called on Black people not to believe that they have arrived because they have achieved certain symbols of material success, but to be concerned about the plight of Black people both in this country and around the world.

The Governor's Conference on Minority Business has been regionalized this year. Its first meeting was in Cleveland, where an estimated 750 persons participated in the sessions. In Cincinnati, the 450 conferees came from Dayton, Middletown, and other southwestern Ohio cities.

The conference included sessions on utilizing computers in business; acquiring financing and bonding; gaining access to federal, state, local and private procurement opportunities; and, marketing the business, among others.

Additional sessions will be held in Toledo in August and in Columbus in September.

CMACAO county action center relocated

The new home of CMACAO's County Action Center is now located at 3497 First Ave. Urbancrest.

After reviewing the center's need for larger facilities in order to better serve the clients, CMACAO's Board of Trustees approved the relocation request last year.

The County Action Center serves citizens of Southwestern Franklin County, which includes Urbancrest, Grove City, Darbydale, Georgesville, Pleasant Corners, the Franklin County portions of Harrisburg and Orient services include Emergency Food, Income Tax Preparation and Assistance with Utility Bills (both seasonal), Home Winterization, Emergency Clothing, and a Summer Lunch Program, as as Youth Employment Referral.

The Summer Lunch Program, which gets underway Monday, June 16 provides lunch and recreational activities for children and youth up to the age of 18 years.

The program will be held Monday through Friday, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, 3567 First Ave. Urbancrest.

The recreation program is provided cooperatively by CMACAO, OSU Extension Center and St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

Youth Employment Referrals are available at the new

First Avenue location. Two programs currently underway for potential youth employment are cooperative services provided by the Private Industry Council of Columbus and Franklin County (PIC) and the Columbus Urban League. Referrals are made for youth between the ages of 14 thru 21 years to the PIC; eligible applicants must be in a low income category. However, employment referrals for youth ages 16 thru 21 years, having no family income limitations, are made to the Urban League's Business Jobs for Youth Program.

Ellouise Trout, Center Director, and Vivian Larkins, are both pleased with the County Action Center's record of holding the highest youth job placement record of the six CMACAO Neighborhood Service System (NSS) Centers.

Members of CMACAO's Board of Trustees from the County Action Center's service district are Glenn Seabury, Jr., Mayor of Urbancrest, representing the public sector; Ms. Delores Gibson, representing the County Action Center's Advisory Council; Ms. Alice Hairston, a Board representative for the Franklin County Council of Elders.

CMACAO given new direction

"Historically, new board members have received orientation as opposed to a training regarding the agency and the board governance," said Sanford Harper, president of CMACAO board of trustees.

Harper said there is "a relatively new delegation within CMACAO's board, and it is of the essence for the clients served..."

He made the remark recently at the Phase I of Board Training, conducted by Carver Governance Design Inc.

Carver's program was developed to assist board members in their job performance. "The board received actual training regarding the agency, its goals, future, plans and direction, as well as a review of the board's current policies, procedures and bylaws," Harper said.

Areas covered during the training, include the board's relationship to staff, community, other community boards; how does the board make policy; can board really avoid trivia and meddling? how to keep the board and executive director's job separate.

The Carver Governance Design Program has successfully been implemented for the board of the Council for Economic Opportunities in Greater Cleveland, an Ohio-sister Community Action Program (CAP) to CMACAO.

Last month, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services removed CMACAO from its list of "high-risk organizations."

AWARD RECIPIENT -- Dale R. Vultton, a master of twenty state-of-the-art computers, son of Ms. Louise Marrow, of Columbus recently received an award for being the best instructor at the Columbus Urban League's Word Processing Training Center. Vultton, who holds bachelor's and master's degrees, was honored in a ceremony at the commencement exercises of the eighth graduating class, held at Nationwide Insurance Company. He received a plaque from the Urban League for his professionalism and exceptional ability.

Meeting canceled

The Southside Community Action Association's meeting scheduled for June 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bibleway Church, 2660 Rhoads Ave., has been canceled until further notice.

Jazz dance workshops start for Dino Anderson company

Dance/Choreographer/Instructor Dino Anderson is going full tilt with classes under the business name of Dino Anderson Jazz Dance Columbus, formerly La Mont Dance Theatre.

Anderson says he's taking another step in achieving his dream of establishing a professional jazz dance company in Columbus.

Classes began June 16, and will continue through August 14 at 837 Park St. in Victorian Village.

Persons interested in auditioning may set up an appointment by calling 888-3816.

Anderson was recently selected as the national choreographer of P.T.A.M. (Professional) Trade Association Mangers, production Broadway style shows throughout the United States, featuring his own dances.

Of the Capital City Anderson says, "I am so impressed with the talent in Columbus."

He is currently choreographing "West Side Story" for Actors Summer Theatre which will open in July in Schiller Park.

Of the class venture Anderson said, "One way to assure excellence and quality is to establish a training ground where I can personally oversee the artistic development of each student... a training ground created only to feed the resident company "Dino Anderson Jazz Dance Columbus," but also to aid in establishing Columbus as a jazz dance center.

Looking for lodging when it's time to head to Cincinnati for this year's Kool Jazz Festival, Top Flight Enterprises just might have the answer to your accommodation needs. Call Shirley Gramby at 475-2367.

By the way, the dates for this year's event are August 1 and 2.

It's time for AFROFAIR '86, the day-long presentation of art exhibits, dance, drama and poetry that has been a hit at the Mt. Vernon Plaza Focal Point the last few years.

Activities will take place Saturday from noon to 9 p.m. In case of rain, everything gets shifted to Sunday.

If you don't want your kids to waste the whole summer, you might consider getting them involved with music lessons, or some other form of musical awareness.

This is an ideal time, especially since Mayor Buck Rinehart has proclaimed June as "Music Month."

Centre Stage Theatre's production of "Bubbling Brown Sugar" continues Friday and Saturday nights this month at the Old Franklin Junior High School, 1390 Oak St. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m.

The first of the T.I. House "Evening with Authors" subscription series takes place Wednesday, June 25 at 77 Jefferson Ave.

Readings will be offered by current writer-in-residence Richard Anderson and novelist Frederick Busch.

The Pointer sisters will make four stops in Ohio this summer during their national tour.

Music in the Air presents Hank Marr at amphitheater

From all indications, The Columbus Recreation and Parks Department's Music in the Air free, outdoor concert series got off to a fine start last Friday with the performance of Leon Redbone, Terry Waldo and Susan LaMarche.

Their series averages about 14 concerts per week at various programming sites around Columbus.

One of the acts you'll probably want to schedule this week is the Hank Marr Sextet with vocalist Jeanette Williams. They'll be at Riverfront Amphitheater on Friday, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Weekly programming will take place at Riverfront Amphitheater Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays with a normal starting time of 7:30 p.m.

South Africa explodes

As President Reagan has aptly said, the state of affairs in South Africa is rapidly approaching "civil war."

The white minority regime in that tortured nation has slapped an almost-total embargo on any news leaving the nation, and has put its Black citizens under a state of martial law, so complete that it has been argued to extend to certain church services. Blacks cannot meet in any way to question the government, nor can they express such opinions in any way to each other -- not even in a written note.

The extraordinary breadth and depth of such a response demonstrates the absolute paranoia under which the racist South African regime is operating -- and the desperate measures it will take to maintain its tenuous hold on that nation. Indeed, as it attempts to maintain its control by stifling all dissent, it destabilizes the moral authority of moderate leaders like Nobel laureate Desmond Tutu and Allan Boesak, and forces Black South Africans into the arms of more violent forces.

As we look at what is happening in South Africa, we can see that part of the blame must be placed on the Reagan administration. Its policy of "constructive engagement" was little more than a pat on the back to white racism, and was perceived as such by the South Africans. It has consistently minimized the legitimate rights of Black South Africans to have the benefits of freedom within their own land -- even as it has endorsed the efforts of the contras in Nicaragua to overthrow the government in their land.

Now, while it has belatedly attacked the South African system of apartheid as cruel and inhumane, the Reagan administration has taken no concrete steps to confront the South African regime.

When South Africa did a terrorist attack on several of its African neighbors, the Reagan administration recalled a minor official as its show of displeasure -- the most minimal action it could take.

Reagan says that taking stronger steps against the South African government (including disinvestment) would be "hurting the people we are trying to help." However, he has never used that argument to eliminate funding to the contras in Nicaragua. When it comes to South Americans opposing a Marxist government, Reagan seems to understand instinctively what Randall Robinson, head of the Black lobby TransAfrica, said in a rally in Columbus: "Blacks (in South Africa) don't want their chains gold plated; they want them removed."

South Africa is exploding. When blame is assigned for the bloody conflagration that is almost destined to come in that nation, some of it must be given to an administration which has allowed itself to be used by the forces of reaction in both this nation and South Africa itself.

The McCullion affair

At a May 24 event in Youngstown, honoring local activist V. Laura Lumsden, Bureau of Motor Vehicles chief Michael J. McCullion, a Youngstown native representing Gov. Richard F. Celeste, used the racial slur "nigger" in describing an organization of which Ms. Lumsden is a member.

Celeste found out about it shortly thereafter, and forced McCullion to write an apology to Ms. Lumsden. However, the story later broke in the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Cincinnati Enquirer, and the Black Elected Democrats of Ohio urged that McCullion be fired. The governor, after some deliberation, decided to give McCullion a 30-day suspension.

A remark of such extraordinary ineptness and venality, spoken before 500 people, certainly deserves punishment. Whether it deserves more punishment than a mere 30-day suspension--even though the suspension will cost McCullion approximately $4,200--is open for debate.

We feel some questions remain behind the McCullion matter. Why did not the suspension take place right after the event, rather than almost three weeks later? Was it because the governor was out of town? Was it because it took that long to make a decision in the matter? Or was it because the public disclosure of the remark by the press forced the Celeste administration to act on the matter?

We deplore the statement that McCullion made, and we wonder if the governor's response was sufficient. After all, we seriously doubt that a senior Black official, making a similar slur to a group of whites, would have gotten off with only a suspension, albeit a long one.

But we agree in part with Ms. Lumsden in her letter of acceptance of McCullion's apology. She stated that "too much has been made of this issue." While we believe that the issue is important, we also would not want it to cloud the real fundamental issue of the 1986 campaign for Blacks: which of the nominees, Gov. Richard F. Celeste or former Gov. James A. Rhodes, will make a better governor to operate in the interests of Black people?

The problem that confronts the Black community go much deeper than the stupid slur of one inept administration official. The issue of enforcement of the state's affirmative action and minority business laws, human service programs which benefit the state's poor citizens--indeed, the assurance, in this case, that the state government will ensure that Blacks participate in the state-funded recovery of the Mahoning Valley -- are larger than McCullion's words.

Certainly, we must weigh the governor's response to this remark. But we should be sufficiently astute to recognize that the long-term interests of Black people extend much further than the end of Mike McCullion's lips. Therefore, this action -- and the record of the last four years -- must be properly evaluated in order to make our decision about the governor's stewardship.

Unity needed

Sadly, once again, Cleveland has made national headlines because of racist violence. After hours of life-threatening provocations against the Armstrongs, a Black family peacefully seeking to make a home in a white neighborhood, a Black man fired shotgun pellets into the crowd of menacing white hoodlums, injuring eight. Only then did the police finally take action. The Black man has been arrested and the Black family has left the area.

The violence came for months of warnings to public officials by members of the Armstrong family and decent white neighbors that trouble was brewing. It also came in the aftermath of dozens of racist incidents on the West Side in the past year and the firebombing and murder of Mabel Gant in Slavic Village.

In this context the statements of Mayor George Voinovich and Councilman Jay Westbrook, "deploring violence" and condemning "those who take the law into their own hands" are inexcusable and serve to cover up their own inaction and total lack of moral leadership.

Neither official has yet to condemn the racists and order their arrest, nor have they issued any statement that Black people are welcome to live on the West Side and that the city will guarantee the right of Black people to live anywhere they chose free from harassment. Neither official has offered any program for preventing such incidents in the future.

Both officials have also sought to shift the blame onto the Cuyahoga Metropolitan Housing Authority which placed the Black family in a scattered site housing unit allegedly without notifying the city or making adequate preparations in the neighborhood. But, whether Black families move into white areas through CMHA, on their own or through any other means, city officials have the responsibility to defend their rights and protect them from racist hoodlums.

The great majority of white people uphold the laws of our city and state, including those dealing with open housing, and they are totally opposed to the harassment of Black people living in their neighborhoods. To their credit, a number of white families actively welcomed the Armstrongs on West 88th St.

That public officials have so little confidence in the people and continue to be intimidated by tiny bands of loud-mouth bigots is a disgrace.

But it is not simply local officials who are at fault. The Reagan Administration, with its Rambo mentality and its all-out assault on every civil rights gain, has implicitly given the green light to racist vigilantes. An administration which systematically works to destroy affirmative action, denounces school busing, surrounds itself with extreme right-wingers and lays wreaths in Nazi cemeteries conveys a clear message that racism is an acceptable mode of behavior.

Cleveland is a hard-hit victim of the rust bowl. It suffers massive unemployment and 200,000 residents of all races are officially living in poverty. Some are looking for scapegoats on whom to vent their frustrations and poor Black families, especially those isolated in white areas, are the easiest targets.

But the solution lies not in attacking fellow victims. Rather, it lies in uniting all the victims against the common enemy:

Big Business and the anti-labor, anti-people policies of the Reagan Administration. To do this means defending the rights and interests of the most victimized in our society, in the first place, the Afro-American and Hispanic people.

The Communist Party calls for emergency action to punish those responsible for the recent violence and to head off any further such incidents. We call for the arrest of the hoodlums who harassed and threatened the Armstrong family and the immediate release of the Black man who acted in self-defense. We call for an investigation of the police response in this case and adoption of measures to improve police response time.

We call on City Council to establish Human Relations Committees in every West Side ward as well as Collinwood and Slavic Village to monitor and facilitate the process of housing desegregation and to take immediate action to organize neighborhoods threatened by racist hoodlums and groups.

We call for an all-out fight to defeat the Reaganite candidates in November and to establish affirmative action as the necessary means to correct past discrimination and unite all working people for jobs, equality and peace.

Clevelanders, of all races, want peace and harmony in their neighborhoods. We call on all community organizations, churches and trade unions to join forces with city officials to make this a reality and put an end to the activities of the tiny minority who engage in racist violence and mar the good name of our city.

Sincerely yours,
Rick Nagin, Chairperson
Ohio District Communist Party USA

Price owed

Do you remember last June when Mabel Gant died in her home, which was located in an all-white neighborhood? Perhaps not. But, her house was fire bombed by two white youths; one of who originally confessed to committing the crime. But no one has even been convicted of her murder.

Now comes one Black (leader) male who confronted an angry and militant crowd of whites who had been harassing ing a Black family living in another all-white area.

Although the Blacks had sought protection from the Cleveland police, ultimately it became necessary for the Blacks to defend themselves. The Black male and his shotgun demonstrated their own vintage of militancy, by together wounding eight of the angry whites.

Now comes the investigations and recriminations of city officials. However, they should realize that their investigations will only condemn each other for not being competent performers in the entire matter.

Alas, no investigation is needed to realize that both the shotgun pellets and the wounded whites could signal the price owed, when Blacks attempt to integrate some all-white neighborhoods here.

Jim Raplin,
Euclid

The right

The prior harassment of the Black family was well known to CMHA, the police department, and the Community Relations Board.

CMHA placed the family in this possible hostile environment and is legally liable for any result of such placement.

During 1924, a Black Detroit Activist in the NAACP was defended by Clarence Darrow, the most respected attorney of his day, under similar circumstances, and the defendant was found not guilty.

The law is that all people have a right to defend themselves and call upon any other person to assist them in their defense and use whatever force necessary in their defense.

This right to defense, by any means necessary, is a part of the rules governing the 154 countries of the United Nations.

The Freedom Fighters held a meeting on Saturday, June 14, to discuss the following:

Legal liability of CMHA; Legal liability of the City of Cleveland; the failure of Mayor Voinovich to lead; the failure of Cleveland as an "All American City"; the failure of Black politicians to use their power to the benefit of all Blacks in Cleveland; and to evaluate actions of public officials building a new base of community powers for all people.

All old members of the Freedom Fighters, CORE, Black Nationalists, Lawyers, ministers, and the general public were invited.

Freedom Fighters Inc., of Ohio

Apology due

Dear Editor,

The cartoon in the Plain Dealer on June 3, represents the level of dementia this paper has reached and, indeed, is the sickest form of humor yet produced by the Plain Dealer.

To equate the Public Housing Program with the dangers of nuclear waste is the moral equivalent of genocide. The cartoonist's attempt at humor reflects the intelligence of the lowest form of life.

The media has been full of information about the nuclear tragedy in Chernobyl, where the long term life threatening effects will be around for years. For this cartoon to be run, especially at this time, finally places the Plain Dealer in a position, in my judgment, where it belongs, in the gutter.

There are approximately six million people living in public housing around the nation, close to 25 thousand in this community. Most of these people live in good housing. You certainly owe them an apology.

Sincerely,
George M. James
Executive Director, CMHA

Remark recalls '76 gaffe

was in his hometown representing the governor at the annual banquet of the Youngstown chapter of the A. Philip Randolph Institute. There, he noted that the group's honoree, Laura Lundsden, was a member of the "National Council of Nigger Women."

The press picked up on the story two weeks later. McCullion denied any malice, saying his remark was an inadvertency. However, Black leaders were unmollified. Celeste's minority coordinators with the campaign all voted to ask for McCullion's resignation, as did the Black

Elected Democrats of Ohio

The situation poses an interesting challenge for Celeste, one which he cannot win. If he refuses to fire McCullion, he may upset his Black supporters. If he fires McCullion, he will probably anger McCullion's mentor, the powerful Youngstown senator

Harry Mesel.

What happened in 1976?

Although Butz denied any racial animus by making the statement, he resigned from the Ford cabinet.

The idea, of course, was that the statement had a life apart from the person who spoke it.

Complicating the situation for Celeste is that the remark McCullion made was done while representing the governor.

The other complication -- in both instances -- was that the remark was made in an election year. Politicians often count on the short memories of voters to get them out of various tight spots. However, any gaffe or indiscretion is magnified in an election year, and there is little time for its effect to be diffused. In addition, the opposition -- in this case, former governor James Rhodes -- is always quick to exploit the gaffe, and explain why HE would never allow such things to go on in HIS administration.

"Mr. McCullion's racial remark, whether deliberate or unconscious, was not only an insult to Black women, but negatively depicted a well-respected national organization," Rep. C.J. McLin, chairman of BEDO, said in his letter to the governor requesting McCullion's ouster.

There were differences between the Butz remark and the McCullion statement. On the one hand, Butz' remark came in private. McCullion's came before 500 people. Butz was clearly perceived to be representing his own views; McCullion's remark could charitably, have been a slip of the tongue.

However, in either event, there was the same kind of comment: that the remark in no way represented the feelings of the speaker.

Fair housing

Eighteen years after passage of the Fair Housing Act, America is more rigidly segregated than it was in 1968, with more black families restricted to all-black neighborhoods. At the current rate of Black penetration into majority neighborhoods, we're some fifty years away from open housing.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development estimates there are two million instances of racial discrimination in housing each year -- and all but a very small handful are ignored. The few that result in filed complaints of discrimination and in law suits barely indicate the depth and degree of housing discrimination today.

Some years ago HUD conducted a study that found Blacks were discriminated against in 72 percent of rental cases and 48 percent of private home sales.

Black homebuyers and renters know that their efforts to secure decent housing are impeded by the still-powerful forces of discrimination that can be traced throughout the entire real estate chain.

There is discriminatory representation -- where Black buyers or renters are told the home they applied for is off the market when it has actually been held for white buyers or renters.

There is racial steering -- where Blacks are denied access to certain neighborhoods or buildings and steered toward others.

There is blockbusting -- where white flight is stimulated by unscrupulous agents trying to fatten commission income regardless of the harm done to communities.

There is redlining by insurance and banks; discriminatory financing that places a "Black tax" on minority homebuyers; and a wide range of other devices that operate to keep equal access to housing a dream, not a reality.

Most of those devices are illegal, so most housing discrimination takes subtle forms. No one says "no Blacks allowed" but through subterfuge and silent understandings, discrimination flourishes.

We ought to have more to show for 18 years of a federal fair housing law than just driving discrimination underground, where it is still effective and deadly.

Today, a priority must be to marshal support for a new federal housing discrimination measure to plug the holes in the existing law.

The combination of loopholes and lax enforcement has made the Fair Housing Act relatively ineffective just as the housing crunch for minorities is worsening, with the stock of affordable housing shrinking and little new housing for low-income families being built.

The inability of the Fair Housing Act to stem the rising tide of housing discrimination is rooted in its narrow coverage and its inadequate enforcement provisions.

For several years the Congress has considered amendments to the Act that would put some enforcement teeth in it. And each year it has failed to pass those amendments. Now it is again considering a bill that would strengthen and extend the fair housing law.

Unless that bill is passed fair housing will never be a reality. The victims of discrimination must have access to fair hearings and the initiators of discrimination must get stiff penalties for their illegal acts.

The key to fair housing is strong and certain enforcement. We do not have fair housing in America today because we have a weak and uncertain enforcement, and the remedy for that is passage of amendments to the Fair Housing Act that make it effective.

OSU Black graduate hopes energy leads to Congress

At age 21, Stephanie J. Peters hopes her ardor and energy will eventually lead her to Congress. It's a goal she feels she can achieve through hard work.

A graduate of Ohio State University, she's already proved goals can be reached through diligence.

Peters, daughter of Felix and Twelvia Peters, 1905 McTaggart Drive, Akron, is the first Black woman to be elected president of the senior class at Ohio State. She is proud of her accomplishment and feels more blacks need to be elected to various offices.

"In the political arena, not many Black women are involved so I think there is a place for me," she said.

On June 13, there was a special place for Peters during Ohio State's spring quarter commencement, where she graduated with a double major in political science and women's studies.

Peters presented the senior class gift -- $50,000 for a scholarship fund -- to President Edward H. Jennings. It was the first time a Black woman has made the presentation.

It's an honor she'll add to her long list of achievements at Ohio State.

Most recently, she was named one of 10 outstanding seniors during the President's Undergraduate Leadership Awards ceremony in May.

She has been co-president of the Ohio Student Association, chair of national and state affairs for Ohio State's Undergraduate Student Government (USG), and active in Ohio State's campus service organization.

Peters received a 1985 Outstanding Black Student Leader Award. She has been an intern for Columbus City Council and was on Ohio State's 1985 Homecoming Court.

STEPHANIE J. PETERS
...senior class president

Peters admits a class presidency was not on her agenda when she graduated from Akron's Butcher High School in 1982.

In fact, her first task at Ohio State was to survive academically. Enrolled as one of 4,000 minority students, Peters needed remedial work in English and mathematics to stay at the University. "As a minority student, it takes a lot of energy to apply yourself and keep the motivation going," she said.

After catching up academically, Peters began to build a world for herself at Ohio State. She created a support mechanism by joining the Black social sorority, Zeta Phi Beta. "When I had problems, I fell back on my sorority sisters," she said.

"I started getting involved by working with the Office of Black Student Programs and USG. I was always testing the water. The people and diversity of Ohio State opened a lot of doors for me. People believe in people here. It reached a point where color didn't make a difference."

But getting to that point was not easy.

"Sometimes being a Black person at a white university is very hard and frustrating," Peters said. "Sometimes you feel like you're pulled by two worlds. But the sooner you recognize the obstacles, the quicker you'll ready a strategy to take them on. You have to have a good attitude and do the best within the system. You can do anything you want, but you have to work for it. There is nothing that is unobtainable."

But that doesn't mean she didn't face racial challenges, including fighting stereotypes. "Students in political science had preconceived notions that I was a liberal Democrat because I'm a Black woman. It was unfortunate because it prevented an exchange of ideas between us."

In student organizations she found a different kind of problem. "I see a lot of traditional sexism here. I have met a lot of women who worked their way into organizations by being secretary or banquet chair. A lot of them get stuck there."

"When I deal with male student leaders, I really have to be assertive from the very beginning. Through the strength I've had to acquire being a Black woman, I've learned to control my emotions. I hold my ground," she added.

That's the training she needs for her next career, she said. Following law school or study abroad, Peters hopes to work with youth in the Black community.

acy to unlawfully distributing prescription drugs, which are controlled substances under federal law.

The indictment charges a conspiracy spanning a period between January, 1984 and Oct. 2, 1985, involving distribution of percodan, ritalin, preladin, phenphen No. three, tylenol No. four, nodular, valium, talwin and benadryl.

The prosecution alleged that Dewey Moore, 58, described by police as the kingpin and financier of the operation, purchased the prescription drugs from several named conspirators and thereafter resold them to others.

Moore removed the prescription drugs from their original containers, repackaged them before re-selling at a unit price per pill, the indictment says.

Moore is charged with twenty three counts of the 34-count indictment. Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Lettis said Moore, who is undergoing a psychiatric evaluation, could be tried later on drug-related charges if a psychiatrist determines that he is competent to stand trial. Judge Holschuh ruled on Feb. 28 that Moore was incompetent to stand trial, based on a report prepared by the Southwest Forensic Psychiatric Center.

If convicted of all counts, Moore could be sentenced to 254 years in prison, plus $2 million in fines.

Gary's father, Thomas Page, 39, came from Logan, W. Va. when he heard about the shooting. He and his wife have been separated for 12 years. Page said: My son is a good boy. He was taught to respect his elders. The woman shouldn't have to shoot him like that. I am going to make sure that she doesn't get away with this, and by that I mean I will ensure that she's given a fair trial.

Page said: "If it had been a Black man shooting a white person authorities would have kept him in jail with a higher bond set. I wonder what would have happened to me if I shot a white boy?"

Mrs. Thomas said she has contacted the office of State Rep. Ray Miller, whose constituency covers Whitehall, and the Columbus Chapter of the NAACP.

A spokesperson for Miller's office said they are looking into the shooting incident.

James Evans, president of NAACP could not be reached for comment at The CALL & POST edition time.

Mrs. Thomas said two days after the shooting, Webb and her family moved out of their apartment with the help of Whitehall police.

Mrs. Thomas and her three children have been living in the area for almost a year, while neighbors said Webb moved into the apartment less than a month ago.

"Before she moved in here, we never had problems with anyone," said Mrs. Thomas. "She has been a troublemaker here since."

Whitehall Police Detective Gary Snider quoted Mrs. Thomas as saying that her son was looking for a ring when the argument started. "Neighbors said they heard shots fired. There have been threats made to Webb before the shooting. She became the aggressor in that situation."

When Mrs. Thomas and her estranged husband learned of confusing versions of the shooting, they went to Whitehall police for a report. Mrs. Thomas said officers refused to give them a copy of the report.

Aside from the charge filed against Webb, Mrs. Thomas said she plans to take a civil action against the woman, and the landlord.

The apartment complex is being managed by J.R. Rental Management, 1949 Woodland Ave. Mrs. Thomas would not comment on the nature of her complaint. But she indicated that she has talked to her attorney about the shooting.

feel have motives that are suspect. We trust that you will not overreact to unwarranted demands from those who are not honest about the incident or Mr. McCullion."

In ordering McCullion's boss, Highway Safety Director William Denihan, to give McCullion a suspension, Celeste said he was swayed by the acceptance of McCullion's apology by the APRI. The Black Elected Democrats of Ohio had called for McCullion's resignation.

Sen. William F. Bowen, a member of BEDO, agreed that Celeste should have taken some action against McCullion.

"It's pretty obvious it was a slip of the lip," Bowen was quoted as saying, but he also said that it was clear the word was a part of McCullion's vocabulary.

"What's inside comes out the mouth," Bowen added, saying that BEDO would discuss its response to the governor's action at the group's next meeting.

ED WILLIS HONORED

Students, friends salute 'The Chef'

By MILLICENT ALLEN

When Edward J. Willis speaks... people listen. He strikes a nerve within the human anatomy that spontaneously draws your attention and earns your respect. That nerve is the heart!

Willis has touched the hearts and lives of many through his 46 year affiliation with the Columbus Public Schools, the last 15 as principal of East High. A retirement dinner on Monday, June 2, at the Sheraton Columbus Plaza provided over 200 friends, students, family members and professional associates the opportunity to speak out, paying tribute to "the Chief," as he is commonly known, for his support and community involvement.

DR. JAMES HYRE, SUPERINTENDENT COLUMBUS PUBLIC SCHOOLS: "High school principalship is probably the toughest job in education administration and Willis has demonstrated that he is a man of all seasons. There is not a better high school in Columbus than East."

BARBARA JENKINS, CHAIRPERSON 1950-55 EAST HIGH SCHOOL REUNION COMMITTEE: "Willis is a great educator who has done many things for the community and for the youth of Columbus." She presented a plaque to Willis for his dedication and services rendered to the 1950-55 East High School Reunion Committee.

TERRY BOYD, ADMINISTRATOR CITY OFFICE OF YOUTH SERVICES: Presented a check from the Mayor and his administration on behalf of the citizens of Columbus to benefit the Edward J. Willis Scholarship Fund.

RAY MILLER, STATE REPRESENTATIVE 29TH DISTRICT: As a graduate of East High, Miller contends that "Willis worked hard to advance the tradition at East. He is compassionate, concerned and caring."

OTTO BEATTY, STATE REPRESENTATIVE 31ST DISTRICT: "Thank you Ed Willis for granting hope and opportunity to those who have no hope and opportunity." Beatty also acknowledges a rare combination of discipline and love at East High. He adds, "Willis maintained discipline with love. We need people like Ed Willis to fight for educational funds. We need him in the educational system."

AKA KAMBON, MANAGER OF LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH OFFICE FOR CITY COUNCIL: "You judge a man not by what he does when he has to do it but by what he does when he doesn't have to do it."

MIGNON WHITLOW, A PARENT: "Willis is a man who has left a legacy with the Columbus Public School System. He instilled with students the thought 'I am somebody special,' giving them the desire to strive for excellence academically and socially."

DON JAKOB, A PARENT: "Under Ed Willis the parents have been able to form a close bond with the Administration."

RICHARD F. CELESTE: In a proclamation presented by Gary Holland, Executive Assistant for Regulation and Administration, Governor Celeste recognized Willis as "an outstanding school administrator with a unique style that has endeared him to students, parents and staff." Celeste paid special recognition to Willis for his "untiring and steadfast dedication to the generations of children in the Columbus Public Schools whose lives he has enriched, acknowledges his honesty, integrity and patience in serving these students & commends him for his unparalleled pursuit of educational excellence."

LORETTA HEARD, PRESIDENT, COLUMBUS BOARD OF EDUCATION: "Willis will be a difficult person to replace because he has become a legend and even though he is retiring he won't be out of sight and out of mind. I am thrilled to have had someone like Ed Willis to be the leader of East High."

MICHAEL OCHAB AND

STEVE GEORGEFF, ADMINISTRATOR EASH HIGH SCHOOL: On behalf on those attending the retirement dinner, Willis was presented with a 20x24 inch portrait of himself, a trip for two to Hawaii. It was also announced that an Edward J. Willis Scholarship Fund has been established. A duplicate portrait of Willis will hang on the walls of East High School.

DANA RINEHART, MAYOR CITY OF COLUMBUS: "My son is finishing his first year at East High. When I became Mayor, Willis called to personally welcome me into office then he invited me to visit East. The students arrived and filled the auditorium. It was so quiet you could hear a pin drop. The students did it out of pride not out of fear. Willis held a neighborhood rap session concerning drugs at my house once with over 30 parents in attendance. Willis taught the students that what you do in the next four years will determine what you will do for the next 40 years. If you make A's or D's determines whether you eat steak or hamburger. This is the spirit of ED WILLIS. The Mock Road Sports Facility has been renamed the Edward J. Willis Youth Education Facility."

DR. THOMAS SIMPSON, VICE PRINCIPAL EAST HIGH SCHOOL: "I have worked with Willis for ten years. He has taught me that all things pass in time. He's always smiling."

Lovely induction ceremony welcomes new Links Toni Toler, Delores Sykes

There are so many things that I want to tell you, but space only allows for a few bits of MISCELLANEOUS CHATTER such as:

Two ladies were added to the chain of friendship in the Columbus Chapter of Links, Inc. recently in an impressive ceremony conducted by Link's President Linda Jackson. The lovely ladies are Mrs. William Sykes (Delores) and Mrs. William Toler (Toni).

Each brings to the organization her own special qualities. For example, Delores is an instructor at the OSU College of Social Work. She is on the board of the St. Vincent's Children's Center, and was appointed by Governor Richard F. Celeste to the Ohio Commission for the Martin Luther King Holiday.

... well sir, two attorneys in the family.

She is the wife of William Sykes (Bill) who is Director of Administrative Services, State of Ohio. Delores and Bill have two daughters, Jacqueline and Angela. Jackie graduated last week from Walnut Ridge High School and plans to study architecture at Hampton University in the fall. Angie is a Biomedical Engineer AND a part-time student of law in Arlington, Va.

Vivacious Toni is a homemaker whose personal style of good taste can be seen throughout her well appointed home. Toni invested loving guidance and time with her daughters, Lynn and Katherine, that gave them the basis for their current successes. Lynn is an attorney in Toledo with a prestigious law firm while Katherine is a second year medical resident at Parkland Hospital in Dallas, Texas. Toni enjoyed her several summers as a volunteer with the school system in various special programs, and now can take a breather and spend time doing one of her favorite past-times, gardening. Toni is the wife of Attorney William Toler Trudi Preston, and Frances White had everything planned to the last detail including the orientation workshop that was held several weeks before the induction.

Link Shirley Mann was the hostess for the meeting that was held at the Hyatt on Capitol Square and linked her own special magic with that of the other members to make the new members' first meeting memorable. A very special and moving touch was the stroll down memory lane by Alumni Link Alberta Turner and Link Mark Cox, both Chapter members. They were able to give a sense of history and purpose of the organization locally and nationally to the new members as well as to all Links in their timely remarks. Link Roberta Bassett's soprano voice was raised in confidence and unit as she led the singing of the National Links' song.

Speaking of Bill Sykes, he has geared up and is eagerly anticipating the 2nd Annual Bill Sykes/UNCF Golf Classic on July 9, 1986. Bill is the Chairman of the State Employees UNCF Campaign. Last year the Classic resulted in a contribution of $50,000 to the Fund. Such notables on the scene last year were Governor Celeste, State Representatives Ray Miller, C.J. McLin, and City Council President Jerry Hammond. Have you made your reservations yet?

NEW LINKS — Pausing after the induction ceremony for new members into the Columbus Chapter of the Links Inc. are from left: Links Yvonne Ruffin, treasurer, Vesta Morgan, recording secretary, new Links Delores Sykes and Toni Toler, Link Shirley Duncan, vice president, and Linda Jackson, president. Other members are Lillian Allen, Roberta Bassett, Maureen Black, Elsie Blount, Thelma Clark, Mary Cox, Kathlynn Espy, Elizabeth Evans, Thel Fletcher, Henri Gilliam, Maryemma Hall, Jessica Hicks, Dawne Hurley, Adrienne James, Gloria Jefferson, Karen Jefferson, Shirley Mann, Edna Newkirk, Lou Preston, Trudi Preston, Margaret Roberts, Sharon Roberts, Patti Ruffin, Anne Smith-Incas, Tina Stewart, Frances White, and Ramone Woodard. Alumni Links are Ernie Foley, Christina Jones, Eva Manuel and Alberta Turner.

You may have read a separate article I wrote two weeks ago for the C & P about the gymnastic triumphs of Amy Espy. Well, somewhere between "here and there" a few words were lost. The article was printed to say that Amy is the daughter of Attorney Ben Espy. Now, we all know that medical science is outstanding, but it hasn't come THAT far!! Pixie Amy is the daughter of Attorney and MRS. Ben Espy, Kathlynn, better known as Kathy.

Hold onto your hat!!! Everyone is talking about the FABULOUS treatment the members of the Columbus Carrousel received from their member Mrs. William Johnson (Gloria) who now resides in St. Louis, but retains her Columbus membership. When it was her turn to serve as hostess, she said, "I'll meet you in St. Louie" — and she did!!

What happened was that she had 19 members of the Columbus Carrousel including a person to be installed into membership in the Columbus chapter FLOWN to St. Louis via TWA. Gloria met the happy flyers at the St. Louis airport with four chauffeured white limousines that whisked the ladies off to the St. Louis Chase Park Plaza Hotel.

There they repaired to a gorgeous suite to freshen up and to begin their meeting. They also had a tasty lunch of ham and cheese croissant sandwiches, fresh veggies and fruit, and -ghem - drinkables. The meeting was made extra special (as if it could be better) because they inducted Georgia Howard into the fold. All of the Carrousel were dressed in white and gold which are the club's colors.

together when the limousines came back 2½ hours later to sweep them back to the hotel.

On their return, they freshened up again for more festivities. They went to yet another room for cocktails and to meet 19 women who may be interested in beginning a chapter of Carrousel in St. Louis. All of these ladies, the Columbus Chapter, and hostess Gloria adjourned to a private dining room to sup on an outstanding prime rib dinner.

My sources tell me that each table was decorated with beautiful spring flowers and that one lucky lady from each table received them as a gift. Gracious Gloria had placed a red rose at the place setting of each lady in the interest group and a white rose, the club's flower, at each setting of a Carrousel. At the prescribed time, Gloria had each of the 39 ladies in attendance to stand and tell the others just a bit about herself. All present enjoyed this personal sharing.

The Columbus Chapter reluctantly said farewell to the St. Louis ladies in order to return to the suite to finish the meeting they had left earlier in favor of shopping. After the meeting, the limousines took them back to the airport for the return trip home. The 12 hour "St. Louis affair" was enjoyed thoroughly by them, and they returned to jolly old Columbus feeling satisfied and very special.

For your information

During 1985, 2,700 Americans were arrested in 96 foreign countries. Of these, close to 1,160 ended up in jails abroad because they assumed they couldn't get "busted" for drugs. If you are arrested abroad on a drug charge, the American consular officer cannot pay your legal fees. All he can do is visit you, give you a list of local attorneys, notify your family, and try to make sure that your rights are respected under local law. Drug laws in most countries are as stiff or stiffer than those in the U.S., and once you leave this country you are no longer protected by our laws and constitutional rights.

Dr. Mary Ann Williams named CALP recipient

WILLIE T. BARROW

SHERYL A. DICKEY

FANNIE LAKE
...national president

By B.J. LUNDY
Dr. Mary Ann Williams, associate professor of theater and communications in the Department of Black Studies at the Ohio State University, is the 1986 recipient of the Columbus Area Leadership Award.

The 3-year-old award is presented by the Columbus Area Leadership Program (CALP) to one of its now 777 graduates in recognition of outstanding community leadership and service. It will be presented at CALP's Annual Meeting And Awards Luncheon at noon on June 25 at the University Hilton.

Dr. Williams is a 1979 graduate of this community leadership training program. She is twice elected to the Board of Trustees and was the 1984-1985 Board President.

In addition to being recognized for her direct involvement with CALP, Dr. Williams is receiving the Columbus Area Leadership Award in recognition of the contributions Art For Community Expressions, Inc. (ACE), a minority arts organization she and her husband Kojo Kamau founded, has made to the arts in Columbus and Central Ohio.

ACE has been the vehicle through which local African American artists have received exposure throughout Columbus. The 7-year-old non-profit organization sponsors the annual Afro-Fair arts and crafts festival at the Mt. Vernon Plaza Focal Point (this Saturday), quarterly exhibits of works by local African American artists, and a bi-annual study trip to Africa. ACE recently opened its own gallery at 772 North High.

"I am particularly pleased and humbled at receiving the Columbus Area Leadership Award," Dr. Williams said, "it's a good feeling knowing that the time and effort one spends with particular interests as well as just getting involved period means something, accomplishes some end."

Dr. Williams noted that during her term as President of the CALP Board, minority participation in the CALP program increased 2½ times over what it had previously been. "I think that it is absolutely critical that minorities continue to participate in the CALP program," Dr. Williams said. "Not only do you learn a lot about Columbus and meet all kinds of people, but you become part of a resource of human talent in Columbus once you graduate." She noted that CALP graduates are regularly tapped for board appointments, commission posts, special task forces, and problem solving groups.

Dr. Williams' term on the CALP Board of Trustees ends this month. "I've learned a great deal from men like Mike Lorz of Lorz Communications, who encouraged me to accept the nomination for Board president; Lloyd Peale, president of Huntington National Bank; Jim Thomas, personnel director for Nationwide; and Keith Allen at the Ohio Company," she said, "they were mentors as well as colleagues." Dr. Williams also gave credit to Betty Rogers, CALP's Executive Director and her close working relationship with the 27-member CALP Board.

"I encourage the Board to keep up the good work - Columbus has one of the best leadership training programs in the country," Dr. Williams said. "Board members Gayle Colston Barge, Dr. John E. Fleming, Anne Smith-Incas and newly elected Board member Guy Reece have the additional charge of making sure the Board and program remain responsive to minority interests and needs," she continued, "as do all of the minority graduates."

"All in all, it has been a wonderful experience," Dr. Williams said. "Making my experience even better is the support and encouragement I have received from my husband, Kojo Kamau," she noted, "I was able to go for it because he reached with me."

Reservations for the 12th Annual Meeting And Awards Luncheon of the Columbus Area Leadership Program must be made by June 20. Tickets are $12.50 per person. Call the CALP Office 221-1321, for further information.

Conference workshops will be devoted to the "Extended Black Family"; "Political of Black Females"; "The Black Male Child" and "The Single, Widowed and Divorced Female." According to National Black Women's Leadership Caucus president, Fannie Lake of Cincinnati, "The conference will address Black community progress through nurturing a stronger sense of 'family,' despite economic, political and social differences."

Wrestler tries to get hold on sponsors for summertime

...pinned for funds

Gahanna Lincoln High School senior Marc Hardy hopes to be headed for the AAU Nationals in Indianapolis and the Junior National Wrestling Tournaments in Iowa this summer.

Well, apparently the amount of practice time he'll be spending in preparation for the mat action will limit the amount of time he can spend in summertime employment.

Getting to these prestigious meets costs money, which means that Hardy is seeking sponsorship assistance.

To help this six-letter-winner member of the Ohio Amateur Wrestling Association you should call his coach, Jack Kruse, at (614) 855-9897.

Ohio State University earned five points in this year's NCAA Track and Field championships thanks to freshman 3000-meter runner Kathy Monard who earned All-American honors with her fourth place finish. Two other Lady Bucks competed, hurdlers Bridgette Tate and Jacqueline Browne. Neither qualified for the finals.

OSU sophomore Tracey Hall, who was the Big Ten

Women's Basketball Player of the Year, has been selected to compete for the ABA/USA National Team which will try to beat Canada, Korea and Germany in Toronto July 11-15.

The association is also in need of football coaches, cheerleaders supervisors and other persons interested in working with the young folks.

Interested persons should call Earl Littlefield at 258-1051 or 299-4197.

Word has it that Columbus native Bob Moorman, who is commissioner of the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA), will be heading to Moscow for the Goodwill Games.

The CIAA is comprised of 14 Black-oriented colleges in this country.

TWICE AS NICE -- The track teams of both genders at Hartley High School won the 1986 Class AA State Track and Field meet at Ohio Stadium on June 6 and 7. The girls of Hartley scored 34 points, four better than second place

Steubenville. Peninsula Woodridge's second place total of 33 points was well behind the 56 posted by the Hawks' boys.

Hartley doubles pleasure as Class AA State champs

(COLUMBUS BUREAU)

Both the boys and girls of Hartley High School won their respective titles at last Saturday's State Track Meet at Ohio Stadium.

Long jumper Leigh Grey got the point parade started for the Hawks by winning the long jump with a Class AA record leap of 24' 2 1/2" on his sixth and final try.

Grey also went to the top spot on the victory stand as a member of Hartley's 4 x 100 relay team, along with Willie Pace, Eric Gudger and David Key. Their winning time was 42.73 seconds.

Key managed two additional first places as he won both the 110 and 300 meter hurdle events. He ran the shorter race in 14.05 seconds, the other in 36.98 seconds.

The remainder of Hartley's 56 points came from the second place finishes of Grey in the 100 and 200 meter dashes. After the latter race he may have heard the jubiliant cry of "Three, three, three" from Leavittsburg LaBrae ace Voren Hughes, who won the 100, 400, and 200 meter sprints.

The Hartley girls went the relay route to pick up most of their 34 championship points.

They won the 4x100 (49.44 seconds) and the 4x200 relay (1:42.29, a new state record), Shelley Joyce, Tiffany Smith, Myra Garnes and Ronda Nutt were the winning quartet in the 4x100, while Allyson Williams instead of Garnes rounded out the 4x200 group.

The Hawks added to their total with a third place finish behind the second place DeSales and winning Ravenna SE teams in the 4x800 relay. Hartley also placed fifth in the 4x400 meter meet closer.

Their only individual performer was Williams, who placed third in the 400 meter dash.

It was a lean year for Columbus City League boys in Class AAA. Eastmoor with a third place finish in the 4x100 relay was the only point winner for the City in boys' competition. Greensburg Green won that division with 38 points, followed by Cleveland John Adams and Dayton Patterson.

The City League girls fared a little better, primarily because hurdler Terry Robinson of Northland rose to the occasion.

She won the 100 meter hurdles in 13.67 seconds, then erased the mark of LaVonna Martin in the 300-meter hurdles with a time of 42.78 seconds. Robinson's Friday qualifying run was only sixth best, prompting her to comment, "I didn't think I'd make it." However, she ran "scared" when the finals rolled around to better the record of one of the state's best prep performers.

A sixth place by Mifflin's Monica Stevenson and a third by the Puncer's 4x400 relay team accounted for the rest of the points posted by City Leaguers.

Peggy Odita of Upper Arlington won both the long and high jumps. She stretched out 19'7" and up 5'10 1/4" for her wins.

Lisa Brooks of Gahanna was fourth in the 200 meter dash.

Cleveland Heights Beaumont captured the girls' AAA title with 33 points. Toledo Scott was second, while Upper Arlington was third.

Dayton Jefferson's boys had no competition in their division, as they won Class A with 73 1/2 points. Cincinnati Academy of Physical Education picked up the crown in the girls' Class A action with 36 points.

Wehrle was able to earn four points with a fourth in the 4x100 relay.

Lauch Henry helped find the missing ingredient to educate minority engineers. Money.

Lauchland Henry is a teacher. And a scientist. And an engineer. He's generally concerned about other people. And he has expressed some of that concern in his participation with the National Fund for Minority Engineering Students.

The fund is a non profit organization attempting to increase the number of Blacks, Puerto Ricans, Chicanos, Asians, American Indians and American Indians enrolled in engineering schools. These under represented minorities contribute a rich untapped resource to help fill the growing need for engineers, a need that is expected to continue through the mid 1980's.

IBM's social leave program enabled Dr. Henry to take a year's leave to assist the fund. And IBM continued to pay him his full salary.

The National Fund for Minority Engineering Students is a very worthwhile program. We think so. Lauchland Henry thinks so. But most important of all, lots of minority engineering students enrolled at colleges and universities all over the country think so. IBM

LEIGH BEATS LEE -- Leigh Grey's final long jump for the Hartley Hawks was good enough to win the Class AA State High School competition in record setting fashion. Grey's leap of 24 feet, 2 1/2 inches surpassed the mark set by Michael Lee of Briggs in 1977. Grey had already gained a lock on first place in the State with this attempt.

DON'T TARRY -- Northland High School's Terry Robinson had to "run scared" to win the second of her two hurdles events at this year's State Meet. After winning the 100 meter hurdles in 13.67 seconds, she came back to capture the 300 meters hurdles in 42.78 seconds. That winning time beat not only the Class AA record of Oak Harbor's Tammy Gackstetter, but also the Class AAA mark of 43.36 held by former Trotwood Madison star LaVonna Martin. NEED FOR BLACK CHILD ADVOCATE — Terry Boyd (left) and U.S. Rep. John Kasich discussing statistics which support the need for a Black child advocate group in Columbus.

Columbus to be chartered affiliate of NBCDI

The city of Columbus will be officially chartered on June 23 as the 33rd national affiliate of the National Black Child Development Institute (NBCDI), according to Terry Boyd, administrator, Office of Youth Services.

Officials from Washington D.C., along with local elected officials are expected to attend the formal ceremonies at 6 p.m. at Black Family Connections, 1313 E. Broad St.

NBCDI was established by a Black Women's Community Development Foundation in 1970 as a child advocate organization, which has grown from 15 to 35 affiliates, located in cities across the nation.

It is a non-profit, charitable organization dedicated to improving the quality of life for Black children, Boyd said.

On June 26, 1985, Boyd, representing the Columbus interest, met in Washington D.C. with Congressmen John Kasich and Chalmers P. Wylie, both of whom expressed support for the need for an affiliate chapter of NBCDI in Columbus.

Boyd said NBCDI focuses on three major areas: Child care, child welfare and education. "However, I have found the national office extremely helpful in providing timely research data concerning policy issues which affect Black children," Boyd said.

King III urges 300 to fight for rights

A hushed crowd of almost 300 Columbus citizens heard the carrier of a worldwide name urge his audience to fight for those values his father stood for.

Martin Luther King III, speaking at the Ohio Historical Center, told the audience that it had a responsibility to help feed the hungry and create justice and peace in a war-ravaged world if it is to fulfill the dream that his father, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., held.

King was in Columbus for the opening of an exhibit, sponsored by the McDonald's Restaurants, entitled "His Light Still Shines: the Life and Message of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr."

The exhibit, housed at the Ohio Historical Center, can be seen from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

King, speaking barely above a whisper, reminded his audience of the message and legacy his father left, noting that, if his father were alive today, "Martin Luther King Jr. would be challenging us to live without destroying persons or property."

King also noted that, because his father believed that "injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere," he would be leading the fight to destroy the racist system of apartheid in South Africa.

King, who is also affiliated with the Martin Luther King, Jr. Center for Non-Violent Social Change in Atlanta, is running for Fulton County Commissioner in his hometown.

On display at the exhibit are memorabilia of the life of Dr. King.

The exhibit will run until June 27.

FOND MEMORIES — Martin Luther King III, son of the slain civil rights leader, adjusts the collar on one of the robes his father wore to preach in. The robe is part of a travelling exhibit, entitled "His Light Still Shines", which is currently at the Ohio Historical Center, 1985 Velma Ave., until June 27. The exhibit contains memorabilia from the life of Dr. King, and includes a 28 minute film, "Happy Birthday, Dr. King!" The exhibit was sponsored by the McDonald's Restaurants.

Advent, Trinity remember Soweto

Advent Community Church, 2943 Crossroads Plaza Dr. and Trinity Episcopal Church, 125 E. Broad St. declared June 16 as a Day of Fasting and Prayer for the freedom of the people of South African apartheid.

The call for freedom came on the tenth anniversary of the 1976 Soweto Uprising.

Pastor Luther Holland Jr., said Advent, a member of the United Church of Christ joined the South African Council and World Alliance of Churches in marking the freedom declaration for the oppressed people of South Africa.

The theme for the June 15 worship service was, "How Long, O Lord, How Long?"

The congregation of Trinity Episcopal Church also joined in the observance of Day of Fasting and Prayer. Pastor Maurice Moeti Ngakane, a South African, addressed the congregation. He and his family are refugees in Columbus.

The program at Trinity was sponsored by the Greater Columbus Coalition Against Apartheid, the Ohio Council of Churches, the Metropolitan Church Board, and the Urban Ministries Department of the United Methodist Church.

Henry Scott named East High principal

For Henry Scott, the trip to work will be just moments away as he embarks upon a new challenge as principal of East High School. He is one of four Black administrators who have been promoted by the Columbus Public Schools.

Scott, a 19-year veteran of the Columbus Public Schools, resides less than a half-mile from the school at 1697 Franklin Park South with his wife, Patricia, and nine-year-old daughter Kalilah. A 1963 graduate of South

High School, Scott taught for several years at East and his alma mater before becoming an assistant principal at Starling and Linmoor Middle Schools.

Scott is a graduate of Arkansas A&M and owns a Masters degree from Xavier University in Cincinnati.

East High assistant principal Dr. Thomas Simpson has been moved to principal at Buckeye Middle School. Simpson has been with the Columbus Public Schools for 21 years, much of that time at East. He replaces Larry Metz, who moves to Milflin Middle School.

Simpson received a bachelor's degree from Central State University, a master's degree from Xavier University, and a doctorate from The Ohio State University.

Maurice Blake, formerly an administrative assistant at Independence High School, will join Scott as assistant principal at East. Blake, a graduate of the Ohio State University, began his teaching career at Northland High School in 1974. He served as cadet principal at Independence High School in 1981, assuming his current post in 1984.

Moxley received a bachelor's degree from The Ohio State University and a master's degree from Xavier University.

State legislator attacks OSU admissions policy

By GILBERT PRICE
(COLUMBUS BUREAU)
State Rep. Ray Miller (D - Columbus) joined the rising chorus of opponents to the selective admissions policy which the Ohio State University is preparing to enact to reduce enrollment, calling it "devastating" to Black students.

A group of students and faculty members have already attacked the proposal as being geared toward middle-class white students, and away from the needs of inner-city Black students.

In February, OSU President Dr. Edward Jennings enunciated the need to reduce the number of first-quarter freshmen admitted to the school in the fall, due to a state-ordered enrollment ceiling.

The idea of a higher ceiling for enrollment to the university was given to a special Council on Admissions and Registration, which proposed a plan in which, among other things, a student would have to be in the top one-third of his graduating class to be assured admission to OSU.

Other factors to be considered would be the school's curriculum, and the student's grades and test scores.

Historically, Black students have done more poorly on standardized tests than white students.

An OSU student named Greg Weiss, speaking at a rally of the International Committee Against Racism on the OSU campus argued, "we're using criteria biased toward myself and white students."

Black students currently make up 4.6 percent of the total population of OSU — a figure which ranks it among the lowest in the Big 10. Northwestern, which is a private school with high academic standards, has approximately 8 percent of its students who are Black.

"Selective admissions is going to be devastating," Ray Miller said. "When you talk about a policy that requires that you be in the top one-third of your class, and enrollment gets cut off in February, that is going to be a real serious problem in terms of access to higher education."

Miller asserted that the problem will be particularly difficult for Black students in the Central Ohio area.

"OSU is the only public institution, other than Columbus Technical Institute, in Central Ohio," Miller argued. "The private schools already have selective admissions policies, and they're cost-prohibitive."

Noting that Ohio State must give remedial math and English to more than 20 percent of its incoming freshman, Miller asserted, "Ohio State is basically saying that it is the high schools' job to prepare the student for admission to OSU. They don't feel it is their responsibility to do the developmental education and remediation that is so important today."
